

Filling System-Inspection & Cleaning

SEPACK offers 'online' and 'stand alone' Inspection systems (Metal detection & separation) for separating metal contamination from cashew kernels. Online systems are generally incorporated in the inspection conveyor where the raw kernels are continuously moving. If the contamination of specific size is detected, the same is rejected using a pneumatic flap opening mechanism.

Stand alone systems are also used in the end of the line packing system to detect metal contamination of specific size.